

Sarah Arnaud is a Postdoctoral Associate at the Rotman Institute of Philosophy, University of Western Ontario. Her research interests lie in the areas of philosophy of mind, philosophy of psychology, and philosophical psychiatry. She works mainly on emotion, consciousness, and psychopathology. Her current research focuses primarily on unconscious emotions, emotion intentionalism, the relations between emotion and perception, and the ethics of autism.