

Constant Bonard is a postdoctoral researcher in philosophy, working at the Institut Jean Nicod and Rutgers University, grantee of the Swiss National Science Foundation. His work focuses on affects, communication, and the intersection of these two domains. He has also conducted research in aesthetics and music psychology.