

Jan Zwicky's books include Lyric Philosophy, Wisdom & Metaphor, and The Experience of Meaning, a collection of essays that defends the critical nature of gestalt epistemology. Once Upon a Time in the West, which examines how the West's dominant epistemology has produced critical blindnesses about reality, is forthcoming from McGill-Queen's. She is also the author, with Robert Bringhurst, of Learning to Die: Wisdom in the Age of Climate Crisis.
